

PBS Client Enrichment Series

Free, Virtual Training on PBS Policies, Solutions, and Services

Background and Benefits.

The Client Enrichment Series (CES) provides GSA customers with free, virtual training sessions on significant PBS policies, solutions, and services. These online seminars allow customers to engage with PBS subject matter experts on a variety of topics and earn Continuous Learning Point (CLP) credits for attending. Sessions are recorded for future viewing and all participant questions are answered and developed into formal FAQ documents that are posted online.

The full CES schedule and related information is available at www.gsa.gov/ces.

Archived recordings are available on the CES YouTube channel.

The goal of the Client Enrichment Series is to engage our audience in workplace topics that contribute to our customer agency's mission success and to their effective management of federal real estate and workplace programs.

Client Enrichment Series

About the Client Enrichment Series

The Client Enrichment Series brings PBS's federal customers together with our nationally recognized subject matter experts for conversations about a wide scope of real property and workplace topics.

All federal civilian and military customers who engage with PBS counterparts on the development, financial management and execution of projects and the implementation of real property policies are welcome to attend. No matter your level of experience, there's a Client Enrichment Series session that's right for you.
